

Engineering Futures Online: Calendar of Events 2020-21

Teaming Up: Effective Groups and Meetings

Assigning individuals to work in a group does not automatically create a well-functioning team. The “Teaming Up” session focuses on understanding the conditions necessary for groups to develop into effective teams and offers participants practical tools for encouraging team growth. This session also explores ways to make meetings more effective, including developing strong agendas and ensuring that three key leadership roles are filled (facilitator, notetaker, timekeeper).

Date: Thursday, November 12, 2020

Time: 12:00-1:00pm Eastern (UTC -5)

Presenters: Mark Luchini and David Cribbs

Free Registration: <https://tbp-org.zoom.us/meeting/register/tJUtf--ppjksH91dJlt78JcEmg3whyUBbXwA>

Unleashing Your Personal Brand Through LinkedIn

LinkedIn can be a pillar of establishing your personal brand. As you move through your career, recruiters, colleagues, and contacts will reference what you share there. Learn how to tell your story and showcase who you are using LinkedIn.

Date: Thursday, November 19, 2020

Time: 8:00-9:00pm Eastern (UTC -5)

Presenter: Jeff Perry, Founder of More Than Engineering and Host of The Engineering Career Coach Podcast

Free Registration: https://tbp-org.zoom.us/meeting/register/tJMlcu-hqjstGtA_4UMi1YID-T3xoacaTFzp

Overworking and Blending Self-Identity with Work-Identity

COVID-19 has turned lives upside down. You might believe overworking proves your value to your employer. You might believe your self-worth is measured by career title and accomplishments. Learn the importance of boundaries, understand the consequences of attaching self-value to your career, and discover why you are always 100% worthy. *Live Q&A Welcome!

Date: Tuesday, December 1, 2020

Time: 8:00-9:00pm Eastern (UTC -5)

Presenter: Gina Covarrubias, Founder of Deliberate Doing LLC

Free Registration: https://tbp-org.zoom.us/meeting/register/tJlkd-2trD4jGNTgB6_5pjZ0QeMYZU6Wkeuk

Financial Basics

Matt Hennemann holds a BSME from Iowa State University (1994) and worked for 22+ years for Case New Holland in world-wide capacities such as Chief Engineer, Engineering Director, Product Line Director, and Latin America Product Development Director. He holds 11 US Utility Patents and is a Master Inventor. He had a desire to spend more time at home, and recently changed careers to share his financial wisdom with others. He is active in volunteer activities in the community and at church, and makes his home in Franksville, WI, where he lives with his wife and 2 children.

Date: Wednesday, December 2, 2020

Time: 7:00-8:00pm Eastern (UTC -5)

Presenter: Matt Hennemann, Northwestern Mutual Financial Advisor

Free Registration: <https://tbp-org.zoom.us/meeting/register/tJ0oduihqDkrHdy99Wu9wWJ0cDEdLRwQ5Zji>

Getting Great Recommendations: How to Ask for Strong Letters of Support

Recommendation letters are a key component of developing a strong application for graduate school, undergraduate research or summer internship programs. This session describes the role of recommendation letters in an overall application package and offers specific suggestions for students who hope to get strong letters of support from their faculty, supervisors, advisors, mentors or coaches.

Date: Thursday, December 3, 2020

Time: 8:00-9:00pm Eastern (UTC -5)

Presenter: Katy Colbry, PhD, Director of Engineering Futures

Free Registration: <https://tbp-org.zoom.us/meeting/register/tJlqceuorjlrH9S1gw0qxKf9uZZLBTmeFZI8>

Networking - Moving from Fear to Connection

So often when engineers think about networking, they think conferences, meetups, and business cards. True and effective networking is so much more than this and requires focus and a willingness to get out of a comfort zone to create new meaningful relationships. Let's learn why and how.

Date: Thursday, December 10, 2020

Time: 8:00-9:00pm Eastern (UTC -5)

Presenter: Jeff Perry, Founder of More Than Engineering and Host of The Engineering Career Coach Podcast

Free Registration: <https://tbp-org.zoom.us/meeting/register/tJ0tde-orTlqEtd5mGJzo5CxStbg0PugkZE->