i. General Description

Bring and trade resumes with fellow members. Work with fellow members to make changes, updates, and/or improvements to each others' resumes.

ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

The purpose of the resume workshop is to allow TBP members to get/give feedback to each others' resumes. Members will get their resumes in shape before the industrial roundtable career fair, which happens two weeks later. It will serve as an important time for members to add their summer and more recent involvement to their resume. Members can also use this event to share general resume tips, connect with each other, and get to know each other better.

iii. Organization and Administration

No event planning meetings are needed. It only took about 4 hours to complete the planning individually.

iv. Total Cost

$70.42

v. Cost Breakdown

Costs:

$64.14 - Pizza

$6.28 - Water

Personnel:

2. Project Evaluation

i. General Description

This project is the first of the all-member meetings of the chapter. With it being the first meeting of the year, the main event of the meeting was to help orient and explain how the chapter works as well what events will be conducted for the rest of the semester. This meeting was valuable to both returning members and prospective electees. The general structure of the meeting was that each individual as they walked into the large classroom received a buffet style dinner and then took their seat. The first part of the meeting was a conversational ice breaker with the QR code for the chapter slack being presented. The remainder of the meeting was a presentation that explained membership requirements, explanation of each committee, general schedule, and then a final Q and A session.

ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

The purpose of the project was primarily logistical in terms of making sure the returning members were aware of both the requirements to remain active and the electees learning their requirements. Both groups also learned of the overall semester schedule. An added purpose was that the meeting was social with everyone having a chance to talk and share a meal.

iii. Organization and Administration

The president led the meeting and was the primary leader. He presented the information as well as led the social ice breaker. The president then delegated the responsibility of buying and picking up the food to the treasurer and fundraising chair. All other officers helped set up the meal, present as required in the presentation, and answer questions as needed.

iv. Total Cost

$570.0

v. Cost Breakdown

Dinner was provided to all attendees. Leadership collaborated to manage the event.

vi. Special Problems Encountered

There were no major problems.

vii. Overall Evaluation

The project was very successful. Many returning members as well as electees were able to attend and learn about the organization. Many as a result joined the slack indicating they were interested in participating. This started the semester off to a strong start.

2. Project Evaluation

- i. General Description

Spend a couple of hours providing aid to a local animal shelter. This includes dog walking, laundry, and general cleaning assistance, as requested and instructed by the volunteer organizers at Natalie's.
- ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

The purpose of this event is to provide support to an in-need organization in our local community. This ties into the overarching goals of Tau Beta Pi to demonstrate exemplary character in one's community.
- iii. Organization and Administration

Coordination with Natalie's second chance will be required with the selection of a date for the event. The external affairs officer will be responsible for the coordination with Natalie's to sign up for volunteer time. The external affairs officer is also responsible for coordinating who is attending
- iv. In Conjunction With

Natalie's Second Chance

v. Total Cost

$0.0

vi. Cost Breakdown

There were no costs to this project.

vii. Special Problems Encountered

There were no problems with this project.

viii. Overall Evaluation

The event went on very well. It did end a half hour early as there were so many volunteers that Natalie's ran out of things for us to do. The dogs appeared to be quite exhilarated by our donated time. Additionally, the members of the Natalie's organization were grateful for our volunteering turnout.

2. Project Evaluation

- i. General Description
Resume and elevator pitch practice for TBP members and candidates.
- ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi
Professional development and helping members of the organization present themselves well to companies.
- iii. Organization and Administration
Organized by the Corresponding Secretary with consultation from the President. Led by the Secretary with success, although low turnout.
- iv. Total Cost
$0.0
- v. Cost Breakdown
None
- vi. Special Problems Encountered
None

vii. Overall Evaluation

Results:

Attendance of 5. For the present group, the event went very well. We all had a chance to practice elevator pitches, discuss career plans, what we are looking for in companies, as well as some resume revision.

The small group-type work ended up better than what I envisioned a larger group would have done. Everyone received personal attention.

Improvements:

Publicize much more. The small group setting worked, but could easily be replicated with more present leadership and a breakout group setup.

2. Project Evaluation

- i. General Description

An ice cream themed social where we met at Silver Dipper. I was there for 2 hours and people came and went over the course of the night.
- ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

Trying to get members, especially initiates, more engaged in the society and to form friendships.
- iii. Organization and Administration

Organized by the internal affairs officer who was responsible for reaching out to the Silver Dipper in advance of the event and organizing the insomnia cookies order.
- iv. Total Cost

$121.77
- v. Cost Breakdown

$30.76 went towards insomnia cookies order, 91.01 towards ice cream

vi. Special Problems Encountered

When picking up the order for insomnia, they had a shortage of cookies from an increased demand that day due to a certain deal they were doing. This made me late to the event. In the future I need to be more aware of the potential for problems like this, and make sure I'm making my order as early as possible on the day. Additionally, I was especially busy that day so trying to delegate a task like picking up the cookies or waiting at Silver dipper would be valuable.

vii. Overall Evaluation

Overall the event was very successful, especially considering the hiccup with the insomnia order. It has been our most attended social event to date. I think can be attributed to the laid back nature of the event. Not having a specific time to attend by made it easy for people to just drop by. That being said, this has also been our most expensive event. I think we didn't really need the cookies - during the event people ate them, but were already pretty satisfied with the ice cream itself. I think it was definitely a pull factor for attendance though, even if they weren't especially in demand during the actual event.

2. Project Evaluation

- i. General Description
Graduate Tau Beta Pi students enjoyed dinner at BRU Burger together.
- ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi
Graduate students often struggle to find community especially when moving to a new university. This dinner social provided a way for TBP graduated student to connect.
- iii. Organization and Administration
A graduate advisor planed the event and c2oordinated transportation.
- iv. Total Cost

2. Project Evaluation

- i. General Description

This event is to write and sign encouraging cards for those currently fighting cancer. This event is executed through Send a Smile Charity.
- ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

The purpose of this event is to provide support to those struggling in our larger community. This ties into the overarching goals of Tau Beta Pi.
- iii. Organization and Administration

The external affairs officer will acquire supplies at least two days in advance. An approximate count of volunteers is needed to determine the quantity of cards to purchase. No prior planning is required to deliver the cards to Send a Smile. The cards are to be sent to send a smile via USPS by the External Affairs officer.
- iv. In Conjunction With

vii. Special Problems Encountered

There were no problems with the event.

viii. Overall Evaluation

The event went on very well. No issues were found. There were enough markers and envelopes to go around. People were creative and wrote very kind and motivating cards, paired with a variety of fun drawings. The event could have been more broadly advertised closer to the event. The turnout was a bit lower than expected. However, the actual operation of the event went very smoothly.

2. Project Evaluation

- i. General Description

This event was an opportunity for TBP students to answer questions and interact with freshman engineering students in the First Year Engineering (FYE) program at Purdue. Students could ask about specific engineering disciplines, or general advice for studying engineering.
- ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

Build a connection to the College of Engineering by providing valuable support to the FYE program. Also provides opportunities for students within or outside of TBP to network.
- iii. Organization and Administration

This event was organized by the President and snacks were purchased and provided by the President as well.
- iv. Total Cost

$62.97
- v. Cost Breakdown

Snacks were provided at the expense of the chapter.

vi. Special Problems Encountered

One issue was there were not many FYE students who attended. As our chapter becomes more connected to the College of Engineering, more advertising opportunities will become available. FYE events could also be announced in their classes.

vii. Overall Evaluation

Although attendance from FYE students was low, this style of event was well-received and we plan to continue offering similar events in the future.

i. General Description

Grad study hours are a simple event where graduate TBP students gather to enjoy snacks such as coffee and bagels while studying together.

ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

Fosters community between graduate TBP students and encourages collaborative learning.

iii. Organization and Administration

The event was organized by a graduate advisor.

iv. Total Cost

$62.65

v. Cost Breakdown

Coffee and bagels provided by the chapter.

vi. Special Problems Encountered

There were no problem with this event.

vii. Overall Evaluation

This project went well. The location was great (outside the office in a nice study area) and it was simple to organize.

2. Project Evaluation

- i. General Description

Andrew, Tommy, and any other members/candidates are invited to help distribute lemonade for fundraising, as well as promote TBP and future events.
- ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

Fundraising and organization marketing - This event is not only useful in terms of fundraising, but also useful for promoting the organization and IN-A chapter as a whole.
- iii. Organization and Administration

Have a stand in front of WALC, inform passersby about TBP, and offer lemonade for a small price of $1 per cup. Additional flavoring components are offered for free.
- iv. Total Cost

$40.0
- v. Cost Breakdown

Solo Cups: $20
Powdered Lemonade: $12
Other flavorings: $8

vi. Special Problems Encountered

N/A

vii. Overall Evaluation

This event was more successful than prior semesters, primarily due to location on campus (right in front of a major campus building) and timing (Friday, hours before a Purdue football game). The team received $125 in lemonade and donations, and profited $85 for the organization after extraneous costs. A lot of passersby were interested in our goals as an organization, and it was good to see the number of people already familiar with us!

2. Project Evaluation

i. General Description

This project is the second of the all-member meetings of the chapter. With it being the second meeting of the semester, the main event of the meeting was to help orient and explain how the chapter works as well what events will be conducted for the rest of the semester. This meeting was valuable to both returning members and candidates. The general structure of the meeting was that each individual as they walked into the large classroom received a buffet style dinner and then took their seat. The first part of the meeting was a conversational ice breaker including discussing debate topics. Next, committees presented updates. Finally, guest speaker Dr. Martinez presented their career journey and research.

ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

The purpose of the project was to update members on upcoming events. Additionally, the guest speaker would provide valuable career insights to aid members as they plan out their career path. An added purpose was that the meeting was social with everyone having a chance to talk and share a meal.

iii. Organization and Administration

The president led the meeting and was the primary leader. He presented the information as well as led the social ice breaker. The president then delegated the responsibility of buying and picking up the food to the treasurer and fundraising chair. All other officers helped set up the meal, present as required in the presentation, and answer questions as needed. The guest speaker prepared a presentation for the members.

iv. Total Cost

$977.0

v. Cost Breakdown

Dinner was provided at the expense of the chapter. Leadership collaborated to manage the event.

vi. Special Problems Encountered

There were no major problems. Some members suggested that for future guest speakers to only invite those who would present topics relevant to all engineering disciplines, since some of this speaker's content was only relevant to aerospace engineering majors.

vii. Overall Evaluation

The project was very successful. Members and candidates were able to socialize and were updated on upcoming events. They enjoyed having the guest speaker present, adding variety to the All Member Meetings.

2. Project Evaluation

- i. General Description

A trivia night where people would be quizzed in a jeopardy style game.
- ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

Boost engagement in the club and help people form meaningful connections within TBP.
- iii. Organization and Administration

Organized by the internal affairs officer Will Welsch-Lehmann with some help on the day from treasurer Andrew Gangstead and Johnny Jang.
- iv. Total Cost

$39.48
- v. Cost Breakdown

The 20 dollars was towards the prize for the winner of the jeopardy game, with an additional 19.48 towards snacks (chip baggies i.e. doritos, fritos etc.) that can be reused at other events.

vi. Special Problems Encountered

It was difficult coming up with content as I had to do it all by myself to allow everyone to compete, which meant I only had one Jeopardy board - lasting around half an hour. Luckily, someone suggested using Google's autocomplete Family Feud web game, which fit the theme of the event. I wanted to create my own Family Feud type board as well, but a lack of responses made it difficult.

vii. Overall Evaluation

The event overall was definitely more on the successful side. I think had I had more time for preparation it could have been so much better though. For example, having multiple Jeopardy boards would have definitely elevated the event. I think the general vibe of the event could have been much improved with a better location for the event, the classroom I chose felt kind of barren. Also, if I could have found a way to implement fun sound effects to draw you into the game it would have been better. I would like to try this event again sometime but with better preparation, as I think it has a lot of potential.

Helping members and initiates decompress after their first exams and helping build connections among the organizations members
- iii. Organization and Administration
Organized by Will Welsch-Lehmann through the Purdue Memorial Union Rack and Roll service
- iv. Total Cost
$144.0
- v. Cost Breakdown
$108 for reserving the lanes, $36 for renting shoes
- vi. Special Problems Encountered
Lane reservation for the originally announced time was not possible when the booking was attempted, so a last minute (5 days in advance) rescheduling had to be done. This problem felt largely unavoidable - it was difficult to find a time early enough in advance while also giving people time to register to make sure we had enough lanes.

vii. Overall Evaluation

Overall the event was more successful than I expected as attendance was pretty high and vibes were good. Despite the rescheduling I think I handled it well by reaching out to people who had shown interest individually and checking in to see if they were able to make it. It was a bit expensive but given that we had kept costs low with previous events I thought it was a worthwhile expense.

Candidates	24
Members	28
Electees	0

- v. Average number of hours per person spent:

Participating	Organizing

2. Project Evaluation

i. General Description

This project is the third of the all-member meetings of the chapter. With it being the second meeting of the semester, the main event of the meeting was to help orient and explain how the chapter works as well what events will be conducted for the rest of the semester. This meeting was valuable to both returning members and candidates. The general structure of the meeting was that each individual as they walked into the large classroom received a buffet style dinner and then took their seat. Then committee updates were presented by each committee officer. After that, members formed teams and competed in a spaghetti tower competition, with the winners receiving extra participation points. At the end of the meeting, candidates left and active members held membership elections to select the fall electees.

ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

The purpose of the project was to update members on upcoming events and allow members to participate in a friendly competition. Another purpose of this meeting was to hold member elections. An added purpose was that the meeting was social with everyone having a chance to talk and share a meal.

iii. Organization and Administration

The president led the meeting and was the primary leader. He presented the information as well as led the spaghetti tower competition. The president then delegated the responsibility of buying and picking up the food to the treasurer and fundraising chair. All other officers helped set up the meal, present as required in the presentation, and answer questions as needed. The vice president led member elections.

iv. Total Cost

$309.0

v. Cost Breakdown

Pizza and pop provided by the chapter. Leadership worked together to run the meeting.

vi. Special Problems Encountered

There were no major problems. Member elections could have been more streamlined with additional preparation, but it went well considering we were moving on a faster than usual timeline for the semester.

vii. Overall Evaluation

The project was very successful. Members and candidates were able to socialize and were updated on upcoming events. They enjoyed the competition, and candidates were elected for initiation into the chapter.

2. Project Evaluation

i. General Description

The Purdue Half Marathon is a huge race held every fall where participants can compete in a half-marathon or 5k around the Purdue campus. It is a large race held every year and supports local charities. The organizers pay student organizations to provide volunteers to help run the event, so this is a perfect volunteering and fundraising opportunity for the chapter. Volunteers direct runners along the route or help at water stations.

ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

Volunteering at this event helps to promote fitness in the community and encourages members to get involved in activities that benefit charitable organizations.

iii. Organization and Administration

The event was coordinated by the Treasurer by working with the company that organizes the Half-Marathon.

iv. Total Cost

v. Cost Breakdown

N/A

vi. Special Problems Encountered

One problem was making sure students were prepared to wake up and arrive at the event on time. Volunteers were expected to arrive very early Saturday, so additional reminders for the event should be provided.

vii. Overall Evaluation

This volunteering opportunity raised additional funds for the chapter and was a positive experience getting involved in the community according to volunteers.

vi. Special Problems Encountered

Some technical difficulties relating to streaming services preventing you from streaming their content to a projector. Got it working eventually but it led to an unnecessary delay. Wanted to test out the technology of the room beforehand due to the similar problem we had with the last movie night but failure in planning on my part prevented this from happening.

vii. Overall Evaluation

Overall, very successful event. I think going forward I want to stay away from movie nights, because in general they are less social, everyone is just sitting around watching a movie instead of getting to know each other.

This event was orchestrated by the First United Methodist Church in West Lafayette. They determined households in the local area that need assistance preparing their homes for winter (raking leaves, cleaning gutters, washing windows, etc.). Then the individual groups, one of them being Tau Beta Pi, are sent off in smaller groups to these homes to provide the desired aid.

ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

The purpose of this event is to provide aid to those in the community who need assistance for whatever reason. Providing these services fits into Tau Beta Pi's goals.

iii. Organization and Administration

vii. Special Problems Encountered

There were a few issues with organizing this event. First, there were a few extra students who showed up to volunteer even though they did not previously sign up. This caused us to have to include another car/driver. This was easily remedied as our meet-up spot was in a garage so the additional driver was able to bring their car closer and load up.

viii. Overall Evaluation

The event itself was a great success! The students who participated had a great time and felt very rewarded by this volunteering experience. Additionally, TBP as a group was able to help 9 different households throughout the day.

i. General Description

This project is the fourth of the all-member meetings of the chapter. This meeting was valuable to both active members and electees. The general structure of the meeting was that each individual as they walked into the large classroom received a buffet style dinner and then took their seat. Then committee updates were presented by each committee officer. After that, leadership positions and elections were discussed to prepare members to run for leadership positions. Other final announcements for events such as banquet and initiation were given. Finally, members participated in a thanksgiving art activity.

ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

The purpose of the project was to update members on upcoming events and inform members of all the leadership positions and their elections. Also, students could take a break from the busy end of semester season by participating in a thanksgiving art activity. An added purpose was that the meeting was social with everyone having a chance to talk and share a meal.

iii. Organization and Administration

The president led the meeting and was the primary leader. He presented the information as well as led the spaghetti tower competition. The president then delegated the responsibility of

2. Project Evaluation

i. General Description

The Purdue Paper Airplane Competition is a campus-wide event hosted by the IN A chapter for Purdue students to participate in a fun competition that teaches design principles in a way that is accessible to student in all majors. The event was held in a large gym area in the recreation facility at Purdue so that paper airplanes could be thrown for distance and airtime. The winners of the competition received cash prizes. TBP members could participate but also volunteered to run the event by facilitating the ocmpetition and helping students with paper airplane designs.

ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

The competition raised awareness of the organization since it was available to all students, educated students on basic engineering principles, and was also a fundraiser for the chapter. This was one of the largest events we held and many students outside of Tau Beta Pi participated.

iii. Organization and Administration

The event was organized by the Financial Committee, lead by the Treasurer and Fundraising Chair.

iv. Total Cost

$608.0

v. Cost Breakdown

Supplies needed to run the event.

vi. Special Problems Encountered

Advertising the event was the biggest challenge. Flyers were distributed, details shared by word of mouth, signs posted during the event, and the event was posted in weekly emails sent out by Purdue colleges. More efforts in this area are needed in the future.

vii. Overall Evaluation

The event was a success and was the most well organized compared to previous iterations. The location was perfect. Non-TBP members enjoyed the experience and connection to engineering. "It showed that engineering can be fun". The event also helped raise funds to pay for itself and the cash prizes. Awareness of TBP was increased.

- i. General Description

The TBP end of semester banquet is held in the Purdue Memorial Union. Members enjoy a catered meal and a presentation/recap of the semester. Awards are presented to the Outstanding Active Member, Distinguished Initiate, and the Excellent Engineering Major. Finally, the leadership team for the following semester is elected and members take a group photo. It is one of the few events that occurs after initiation, so all participants are full members of Tau Beta Pi.
- ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

This event builds fellowship and enhances comradery between members. It also accomplishes the important task of selecting the leadership team for the following semester.
- iii. Organization and Administration

The events was planned throughout the semester by the President in coordination with the Purdue Memorial Union.
- iv. Total Cost

$3000.0
- v. Cost Breakdown

Total cost of catering/staffing/space.

vi. Special Problems Encountered

Audio/visual equipment was extremely expensive, so the chapter elected to not have a visual aid with the semester recap. This required some adjustments to the program.

vii. Overall Evaluation

The banquet went really well. The food was good, members enjoyed the recap, and for the first time there were an adequate number of members interested such that all leadership positions were filled easily.

Electees	70

- v. Average number of hours per person spent:

Participating	Organizing
0.1	1.5

2. Project Evaluation

i. General Description

This project is the first of the all-member meetings of the chapter. With it being the first meeting of the year, the main event of the meeting was to help orient and explain how the chapter works as well what events will be conducted for the rest of the semester. This meeting was valuable to both returning members and prospective electees. The general structure of the meeting was that each individual as they walked into the large classroom received a buffet style dinner and then took their seat. The first part of the meeting was a conversational ice breaker with the QR code for the chapter slack being presented. The remainder of the meeting was a presentation that explained membership requirements, explanation of each committee, general schedule, and then a final Q and A session.

ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

The purpose of the project was primarily logistical in terms of making sure the returning members were aware of both the requirements to remain active and the electees learning their requirements. Both groups also learned of the overall semester schedule. An added purpose was that the meeting was social with everyone having a chance to talk and share a meal.

iii. Organization and Administration

The president led the meeting and was the primary leader. He presented the information as well as led the social ice breaker. The president then delegated the responsibility of buying and picking up the food to the treasurer and fundraising chair. All other officers helped set up the meal, present as required in the presentation, and answer questions as needed.

iv. Total Cost

$646.83

v. Cost Breakdown

Cost Breakdown: (549.98 for Panda Express Entrees; 29.80 for cookie desserts; 63.58 for beverages)

vi. Special Problems Encountered

There were no major problems. The turnout was higher than expected so all the food was eaten which meant that more food was ordered in the future meetings to accommodate the large attendance.

vii. Overall Evaluation

The project was very successful. Many returning members as well as electees were able to attend and learn about the organization. Many as a result joined the slack indicating they were interested in participating. This started the semester off to a strong start.

- v. Cost Breakdown

Bubble Tea Cost $142.23
Oreos and Chips Ahoy: $32.00
- vi. Special Problems Encountered

The Cafe had a problem preparing Boba in time, but it ended up not influencing too much of the event.

vii. Overall Evaluation

The overall event was successful, people were engaged in talking with each other, especially since each table had 6~7 people.

Ice-breaker questions in the beginning encouraged people to start a conversation.

Charade game had also positive responses except for the fact that the winner had nothing to win

Grabbing the boba at least one hour earlier would have been nicer since 30 minutes was not enough to prepare for the event.

Doing the charade before letting people talk with each other would also have been a good idea since it was hard to get people's attention.

2. Project Evaluation

i. General Description

This project is the second of the all-member meetings of the chapter. Much like the first meeting, the primary purpose of the meeting was relaying information to the attendees about the upcoming events and requirements. Unlike the first meeting there was a guest presentation by Matthew Szolwinski who is an IN-A alumni and discussed his engineering career. This meeting was valuable to both returning members and prospective electees. The general structure of the meeting was that each individual as they walked into the large classroom received a buffet style dinner and then took their seat. The first part of the meeting was a presentation that explained membership requirements, explanation of each committee, general schedule, and then a final Q and A session about what was specifically discussed. The second part of the meeting was the guest presentation.

ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

The purpose of the project was to inform the members about the activities of the IN-A chapter. The second purpose was to create an opportunity for members to learn more about what an engineering career can look like from a successful alumnus.

iii. Organization and Administration

The president led the meeting and was the primary leader. He presented the information as well as led the social ice breaker. The president then delegated the responsibility of buying and picking up the food to the treasurer and fundraising chair. All other officers helped set up the meal, present as required in the presentation, and answer questions as needed.

iv. Total Cost

$283.86

v. Cost Breakdown

Cost Breakdown: 222.44 dollars for pizza, 35.12 dollars for drinks and utensils; and 26.30 dollars for deserts

Personal Requirements: The project required the president to lead the meeting, the treasurer and fundraising chair to order and pickup food, and the remaining officers for helping with setup and takedown.

vi. Special Problems Encountered

There were no special problems. The food was ready on time and allowed for speedy pickup and delivery. Additionally, the guest speaker was on time so there was a seamless transition between parts of the meeting.

vii. Overall Evaluation

The project was very successful. Many returning members as well as electees were able to attend and learn about the upcoming activities as well as join the slack if they had not already. Additionally, the guest speaker presentation was very popular and very positive feedback was received about it from the members.

2. Project Evaluation

i. General Description

Allied Universal is a company that runs security at sporting events at Purdue and other events around Indiana, they asked for help to man doors at the NFL combine in Indianapolis to steer traffic at the event. The members that volunteered were provided transportation to Indianapolis where they were able to meet future NFL players as well as scouts and other NFL staffers while working to check passes and making sure that media did not get where they were not allowed.

ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

Volunteering at this event helped raise a large majority of funds for the club in the spring semester, this event helped to give a sense of helping towards our Tau Beta Pi community at Purdue. This was also an opportunity for our members to travel outside the Lafayette area and see the community in Indianapolis where our chapter is growing with the Purdue Indianapolis announcement.

iii. Organization and Administration

The event was coordinated by the Fundraising chair by working with the company Allied Universal which Purdue outsources to help run sporting events, and other large events in Indiana.

2. Project Evaluation

i. General Description

This project is the third of the all-member meetings of the chapter. While information was related at this meeting, the primary purpose was member elections following the meeting. This meeting was valuable to both returning members and prospective electees. The general structure of the meeting was that each individual as they walked into the large classroom received a buffet style dinner and then took their seat. The first part of the meeting was a presentation that explained membership requirements, explanation of each committee, general schedule, and then a final Q and A session. Immediately following the first part of the meeting, all the electees were dismissed and the members then voted on who to recommend for initiation.

ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

The purpose was to first give a short summary of the activities each of the committees will host in the next couple of weeks. The second and more important purpose was to hold elections for who to recommend for initiation.

iii. Organization and Administration

The president led the meeting and was the primary leader. He presented the information as well as led the social ice breaker. The president then delegated the responsibility of buying and picking up the food to the treasurer and fundraising chair. All other officers helped set up the meal, present as required in the presentation, and answer questions as needed.

iv. Total Cost

$605.4

v. Cost Breakdown

Cost Breakdown: 453.65 dollars for Raising Cane's Fried Chicken; 32.91 dollars for veggie trays; 33.52 dollars for chips; 66.16 dollars for drinks and utensils; and 19.16 dollars for dessert.

Personal Requirements: The president was required to lead the meeting, the treasurer and fundraising chair were required to purchase and pick up food, all other officers helped with setup and takedown.

vi. Special Problems Encountered

There were no special problems. All food was ready on time and there was good attendance.

vii. Overall Evaluation

The project was very successful. Many members as well as electees were able to attend and learn about the organization. Additionally, the elections went very well there was good discussions among the members about certain electees who there were questions about.

2. Project Evaluation

i. General Description

This project is the third of the all-member meetings of the chapter. This meeting was valuable to both returning members and prospective electees. With the meeting being the final one of its kind this semester, the information on the events was more limited due to a lack of upcoming events. The emphasis was rather on the different leadership positions and increasing interest in them for the upcoming elections. The general structure of the meeting was that each individual as they walked into the large classroom received a buffet style dinner and then took their seat. The first part of the meeting was a conversational ice breaker with the QR code for the chapter slack being presented. The remainder of the meeting was a presentation that explained membership requirements, general schedule, and then an in-depth explanation of each leadership position.

ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss upcoming events as well as to make sure everyone was informed about the leadership positions ahead of leadership elections.

iii. Organization and Administration

The president led the meeting and was the primary leader. He presented the information as

- v. Average number of hours per person spent:

Participating	Organizing
0.3	2.0

2. Project Evaluation

- i. General Description

The TBP end of semester banquet is held in the Purdue Memorial Union. Members enjoy a catered meal and a presentation/recap of the semester. Awards are presented to the Outstanding Active Member, Distinguished Initiate, and the Excellent Engineering Major. Finally, the leadership team for the following semester is elected and members take a group photo. It is one of the few events that occurs after initiation, so all participants are full members of Tau Beta Pi.
- ii. Purpose and Relationship to Objectives of Tau Beta Pi

This event builds fellowship and enhances comradery between members. It also accomplishes the important task of selecting the leadership team for the following semester.
- iii. Organization and Administration

The events was planned throughout the semester by the President in coordination with the Purdue Memorial Union.
- iv. Total Cost

$3000.0
- v. Cost Breakdown

Total price of venue/catering/staff.

vi. Special Problems Encountered

Audio/visual equipment was extremely expensive, so the chapter elected to not have a visual aid with the semester recap. This required some adjustments to the program.

vii. Overall Evaluation

The banquet went really well. The food was good, members enjoyed the recap, and for the first time there were an adequate number of members interested such that all leadership positions were filled easily.
