

Tau Beta Pi

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARD

The primary purpose of this program is to recognize up to five alumni annually who have continued to uphold the ideals of Tau Beta Pi as stated in its Eligibility Code, and foster a spirit of liberal culture throughout their lives after their college years.

The Tau Beta Pi Association has identified this award as an opportunity to “mark in a fitting manner” exemplary performance by alumni who demonstrate excellence in leadership and character, serving as role models to collegiate members, and influencing their professional careers and personal lives.

Dr. Asad M. Madni, CA Epsilon '69, Distinguished Adjunct Professor and Distinguished Scientist at UCLA ECE Department, and retired president, COO, and CTO of BEI Technologies Inc. has permanently endowed an award and every year, an alumni member will be recognized in his name.

Members of Tau Beta Pi who should be considered for this award have made exceptional efforts to promote the Association’s mission on local, national, and international levels.

Their achievements exemplify the diverse contributions which engineers make to society. They demonstrate integrity, breadth of interest both inside and outside engineering, adaptability, and unselfish activity.

These outstanding Tau Bates continue to strive for excellence in their work and activities and fulfill the Eligibility Code requirements by exercising their capacity for giving their best without limit.

Any chapter or member may nominate one or more alumnus/alumna members for the award. Members serving as Association Officials shall not be considered. Nominations should be emailed to the Executive Director by April 1.
